

A MIGHTY FLEET

RUSSIA'S ANSWER.

Ninety Warships Are Anchored Near The Japs.

Japan Has a Large Force of Men in Readiness.

Conger Cables Commercial Treaty Was Signed Thursday.

Regardless of Whether Russia Removes Her Troops From Manchuria or Breaks Her Promise, U. S. Will Only Demand Trading Rights in Manchuria.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Russia's answer to the Japanese movement of troops into Korea, was the dispatch of a mighty fleet to the same quarter. Telegrams received here late today report that ninety Russian warships have arrived at Ma-San-Pho, a harbor in southern Korea and have anchored within easy distance of the Japanese ships sent there some days ago.

The Russian fleet is composed of warships of all classes, and is the one Russia has been gathering about Port Arthur for nearly a year, presumably for just such a crisis.

Additional warlike news is the announcement that brigades of Russian troops have been hurriedly marched to the Korean boundary line, where they are now encamped. With the dogs of war ready on both sides and straining at the leash, the diplomats of Russia and Japan are still trying to reach an amicable agreement. Negotiations are proceeding in Tokyo and it is announced that they are over the future of Korea and do not relate to the evacuation of Manchuria. Apparently this latter question has been settled to the satisfaction of the Russians. They are there and mean to stay.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The state department this morning received a cablegram from Shanghai, signed by Conger, Goodnow and Seaman, commissioners on the part of the United States, that the commercial treaty providing for the open door in Manchuria at Moukden and Antung had been signed by them and by the Chinese commissioners.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 8.—It is learned that in high official circles the belief is rapidly gaining ground that a war with Japan is desirable for many reasons. The first reason is that the officials think that Russia will never make progress in the far east until Japan has been effectually crippled; and second, that war would afford the best excuse for Russia not to evacuate Manchuria now, while by the end of the war the situation would be so changed that the United States and other powers would not demand the evacuation. The military and naval war advocates are of the opinion that after a brief campaign Japan would be glad to resign all pretensions to the Asiatic mainland.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Regardless of whether Russia today removes her troops from Manchuria, or breaks her promise, this government will at present go no further than to maintain that the United States have equal trading rights in Manchuria, with either Russia or any other power. This, in fact, appears to be the only point on which Russia was positive in her promises to this country. Her failure to evacuate may be a specimen of bad faith, in fact, and undoubtedly will be so considered here, but state department officials believe she cannot be held to the vague promises she made last year in this respect. The opening of the ports of Moukden and Antung, however, will be insisted upon to the extreme limit. The commercial treaty containing this provision was signed at Shanghai today.

Paris, Oct. 8.—Officials here consider that the Japanese-Russian situation is approaching a crisis, owing to Russia's refusal to obey the treaty stipulation to evacuate Manchuria not later than today. In diplomatic circles the suggestion is made that an arrangement be entered into by which Russia will grant concessions to Japan and thereby avoid the threatened trouble between Russia and Japan regarding Korea.

London, Oct. 8.—The Japanese minister to England, Baron Hayashi, in an interview today said that it would be impossible for Russia to propose the partition of Korea. Such a proposal, he declared, would be a crime against the independence of Korea as an independent power for any eventualities.

DEFENSE

Begins Introduction of Testimony in Trial of ex-Lieut. Governor Jas. H. Tillman.

Lexington, S. C., Oct. 8.—The defense in the case of J. H. Tillman has entered upon the presentation of its testimony. Solicitor Thurmond announced when the trial was resumed that the state had no further evidence and would rest. Nine witnesses for the defense were heard.

The first witness called was T. D. Mitchell, who was a resident of Columbia in 1902, who testified that in a conversation Gonzales, referring to Tillman, had said: "I can slap his face and he wouldn't resent it." The witness further stated that Gonzales said: "If he ever bats his eyes at me I'll hit him so full of lead he can't tote it off."

A. J. Flowers, a street railway conductor, testified that he overheard a conversation on his street car in Columbia in 1902 in which Gonzales said that "if he did not succeed in defeating Tillman in the governor's office he would never be seated, because" he would kill the rascal.

Several other witnesses testified that they had heard Gonzales make threats against the life of Tillman.

Bellevue, Oct. 8.—The speech of King Ister upon the assembling of the new parliament yesterday made a good impression and the chances of a counter revolution is now thought to be very remote.

ROMANTIC

Tales of Noble Berth Captivated the Heiress, Miss Floyd.

Gopchevitch, recently a grisman on the street railroad, who claims to be a Serbian nobleman connected with the royal house of Obrenovitch. The marriage was a great surprise to all of Miss Floyd's friends. Gopchevitch came here several years ago with letters to Captain Richard Floyd, a retired officer of the United States navy, and Floyd helped the young Serbian to get employment. Recently he met Miss Floyd on his car. He is dark and handsome and captivated the heiress with romantic tales of noble birth.

Accepts the Challenge of Rev. N. D. Creamer to Debate Taxation Question Monday.

Columbus, O., Oct. 8.—Rev. N. D. Creamer, prohibition candidate for governor, forwarded to State Chairman Salen a challenge for Tom L. Johnson to debate with him and Mr. Salen has accepted on behalf of Mr. Johnson.

In his letter Mr. Creamer says that the debate shall be on the question as to whether the prohibition party does not offer a better system of taxation reform than does the Democratic party.

In accepting the challenge Salen says that Johnson will be glad to meet Rev. Mr. Creamer in the Johnson tent, at Cleveland next Monday night and divide his time with him. This is the only night Mr. Johnson finds available owing to his speaking engagements.

FINE AND PRISON FOR DRINK TREATING.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 8.—The town of Delta, this province, is unique among towns on the American continent, in that it has an anti-treating law.

FELL

Upon Knife and Killed Himself Says The Wife.

Dayton, O., Oct. 8.—Mrs. Catherine Lane, aged 40, who killed her husband yesterday afternoon by piercing his breast with a bread knife, today stated that she did not stab him, but that he fell on the knife which she extended before her in self-protection, when he pursued her in her restaurant. Lane has been drinking. "He had threatened to kill me," said the trembling woman, "and I was trying to get away from him when he cornered me in the kitchen. I held out the knife and he stumbled and fell against it. As he fell he cursed me. He must have died with that oath on his lips."

Coroner Kline today ordered the woman's release. She immediately went to the undertaking shop and wept passionately over her husband's corpse.

CASHIER

Who Absconded Will Now Spend 30 Days in Jail.

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 8.—Thomas F. Ward, who absconded while cashier of the Lumber's National bank two years ago, and was traced to New Jersey and captured, will be required to spend only thirty days in jail.

He entered a plea of guilty to the charge of embezzlement before Judge McPherson of the federal court and was fined $12,000. His shortage was estimated at $25,000 and he confessed to an embezzlement of $13,000. He was unable to pay the fine and went to jail. Under a special federal statute, however, he has only to go before a federal commissioner after thirty days, show that he is unable to pay the fine and be discharged.

Guthrie of this city, receiver of the Eastern Tube company, states that the North American Trust company, trustee of the bondholders of the concern, will be petitioned to take immediate steps to foreclose the mortgage and force a sale of the property.

This petition will be issued on two propositions, viz: That the roofs and walls of the buildings will be runnel unless repaired and painted before winter, and that the plant should be in operation, and to the effect that a sale must be made.

If the big plant is sold, it is not unlikely that it will again be put in operation, something which Zanesville citizens very much desire.

NO GUIDING HAND.

Train Ran Several Miles at High Speed Without An Engineer Who Was Knocked From a Locomotive Cab.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 8.—For several miles through the wildest mountain passes in Pennsylvania the Jersey Central flyer, which left Philadelphia for Scranton at 6 o'clock last evening, traveled at 50 miles an hour without an engineer to guide it. Fireman Lenahan, of Ashley, noticed the unusual speed of the train as it rounded a sharp curve at Glen Onoko, and looking into the cab found Engineer Robert Shaver, of Scranton, missing. The train was stopped and returned to the Glen, where the lifeless body of the engineer was found alongside the tracks. He had been struck on the head by an automatic signal pole and his neck was broken.

Two More Indictments Today.

Cincinnati, Oct. 8.—Daniel V. Miller and Joe Johns were indicted by the Federal grand jury today for conspiracy to secure a bribe from John K. Ryan, the turf commissioner of this city. This adds two more to the long list of indictments resulting from the postoffice investigations. Daniel V. Miller was employed as second assistant to Attorney General Tynor of the postoffice department, and Joseph Johns was an attorney at Rockville, Ind., where he was arrested on May 27. Miller was arrested the same day in his office at Washington.

Johns and Miller are charged with accepting $6500 from Ryan to make a favorable report to the postoffice authorities so that Ryan's scheme would be permitted to go through the United States mails.

LANGLEY'S AIRSHIP

Fell into Potomac River and Emerged a Wreck—Experiment a Failure But Langley Asserts That He Will Yet Succeed.

Wide Water, Va., Oct. 8.—The sixty-foot steel built flying machine, the climax of years of exhaustive study in the efforts of Professor Samuel Langley, secretary of the Smithsonian institute, to solve the problem of mechanical flight in mid-air, was launched yesterday and the experiment, carefully planned and delayed for months, proved a complete failure. The immense airship sped rapidly along its seventy-foot track, was carried by its own momentum for 100 yards and fell gradually into the Potomac river, whence it emerged a total wreck.

Professor Charles F. Manley, who has been Professor Langley's chief assistant in the work preliminary to the attempted flight, made the ascent in the aerodrome and escaped with a ducking. At no time was there any semblance of flight, the initial momentum, the lightness of the machine and sustaining surface of the wings furnishing the conditions which account for the hundred-yard transit of the air bird from its sixty-foot elevation. An official statement made after the test admitted that the experiment was unsuccessful, but asserted confidence in the ultimate success of the invention.

Y., at which she was employed as a maid.

Two hundred dollars worth of stolen goods the officer recovered at McKinnon's hotel, near 100th St. Miles was removed to the hospital.

The rest of the goods the young woman had stolen were recovered from a pawnshop at 100th St. and recovered them.

Lion Wagged His Tail Complacently While Crowd Fled—Caged After Much Coaxing.

Berlin, Oct. 8.—A lion which escaped from a menagerie at Munich, Bavaria, walked quietly Monday afternoon into the great plaza, where the October festival was taking place.

The plaza was crowded with booths and visitors. The lion scratched himself, wagged his tail a few times, roared and gazed after the people running wildly away, without trying to touch any one. For a minute or two the lion had the plaza to himself and lay down under a wagon. A keeper came along and tried to coax the lion back to his cage, but the latter trotted away to another part of the plaza. Later the employees of the menagerie came to the spot in force, built up a barricade of boxes, doors and boards around the beast and brought a cage containing a baby lion close to the escaped lion. But the older lion did not show the least interest in the baby, and crept through the barricade and wandered around the plaza.

By this time a force of police armed with rifles, had been summoned to the scene and preparations were being made to kill the lion when a quantity of fresh meat was thrown into the cage, whereupon the "king of beasts" entered it and the cage was soon on its way back to the menagerie.

London, Oct. 8.—King Edward, who has been spending several days at Balmoral Castle, Scotland, left that place today for London.

LONDON ARTILLERY BOMBARDS AMERICAN BANQUET HALLS

ANCIENTS AND HONORABLES ARE THE CENTER OF A HOT TIME IN THE EAST—A FAMOUS ENGLISH CORPS OF SOLDIERS.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 8.—The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of London is bombarding American banquet halls. For the week this famous band of English soldiers will be the center of popping bottles while the smoke of perfumes will envelop them. It will be a fierce time for heads and

OF THIS FELLOW HAS BEEN QUITE VARIED.

Mayor, Proprietor of Three Banks and "Doctor," to Say Nothing of Prison Service.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Ten years ago Mayor of a Wisconsin city and proprietor of three banks, which collapsed simultaneously, later a prisoner in the penitentiary, "physician," broker and private banker, such is the record of "Dr. Arthur C. Probert," whose bank in Eau Claire, Mich., suspended on Saturday.

While the embarrassment of the Eau Claire bank is said to have been temporary in that it reopened yesterday, other troubles confront Probert. One is a charge of fraudulent use of the mails.

Another is that two indictments are pending against Probert in Indiana, growing out of the failure of a bank owned by him in Bourbon. Another is the ousting of the brokerage and banking firm of Probert, Wood & Co., from the offices in the Chamber of Commerce building.

Probert's title of banker is said to have been earned, but that of "doctor" is said to have been conferred upon after a one-day attendance in a Chicago "college." As a "physician" he is said to have been the head of one hospital and a director in another.

It was in connection with one of these institutions that Probert became involved with the authorities June 3, ice will be at a premium in the east. The Ancient and Honorables arrived in Boston Friday.

Until Wednesday there was a hot time in Boston and Providence, and then a special train was taken to New York, Washington, Niagara Falls, Montreal, back to West Point and New York and then to Boston, where they will embark for England on October 15.

The Ancient and Honorable artillery of London was "once a fighting company." It was organized in the time of Edward I, and they were great with the bow and arrow. The company was given a charter by Henry VIII and had the place of honor at his wedding with Anne Boleyn.

The Ancients became big guns after that and numbered as many as 6000 soldiers at times. They did hot work in the civil war for the parliamentary party. In latter years their captains and generals were among the sovereigns or princes of Wales. Prince Albert, Queen Victoria's consort, was a commander of the corps.

The present commander is the Earl of Denbigh and he is with the company.

Dr. Murphy asked Judge Holdom to restrain the hospital and its officers from using his name and signature on certain "certificates" which it issued. These "certificates" were sold to physicians at $20 to $25. The Medical Society investigators at that time also got evidence of a similar institution in Niles, Mich. Probert's career as a banker is said to have been at its height in 1892, when he was Mayor of Washburne, Wis. He was the proprietor at that time of the Bank of Washburne, the Shell Lake bank in Shell Lake, Wis., and the Prescott bank in Prescott, Wis. All these banks failed in 1893, and were reopened in 1894.

The following year they were closed permanently. Because of the manner in which the Washburne bank was managed Probert was convicted of embezzlement.

During his incarceration Probert was clerk in the office of the chaplain and there became involved in the scandal regarding the theft of $50 sent a prisoner. His next attempt at banking was made at Bourbon, Ind., and then followed Probert's flight from Niles, Mich. The Bourbon bank, it is said, was opened on credit, supported by letters of recommendation given Probert by Cashier Johnson, of the Bank of Niles, who later absconded. The bank collapsed after a short career and Probert is said to have been indicted.

He was arrested in Michigan and the Governor of Michigan refused to honor a requisition for extradition made by the Governor of Indiana. A letter from Judge McLaren, of Plymouth, Ind., to the Chicago Medical Society says that indictments against Probert in Marshall county, Ind., are still in force.

BUCKEYE LAKE.

Colonel Wells, the former manager of the park, is now enjoying a season of rest at his cottage on Round Island. The colonel will spend a few weeks there before beginning in any business. Owing to his untiring efforts and his hard and excellent work the colonel needs a good rest. His Round Island cottage is an ideal place for pleasure and sport to escape business vexations and trials.

The long drouth was broken Monday by heavy rain which swept over the lake and surrounding country. Quite a number were on the lake and before they could get shelter the rain came down, giving all a sound drenching. They all sang, "Bill Bailey, won't you go home?"

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bacheston and little daughter were the guests of friends in Newark Sunday.

Miss Faye iFekel spent Sunday, the guest of friends and relatives in Ratsafala.

Our place was well represented at the fair Friday. Quite a number remained for the opera in the evening. A good time is reported by all present.

Jasper Monroe, Sister Bessie and Eva Gutridge spent Sunday near Linnville hunting chestnuts.

HERRICK A COAL TRUST DIRECTOR.

He Escapes a Debate and Helps
Dick Dodge.

Says He Only "Represented a Friend" As a Director of a "Most Excellent," Law-Breaking Trust Railroad—Herrick's Fatal Admission in His Feeble Reply to Chairman Salen's Ringing Challenge.

Chairman Dick of the Republican state executive committee, set the fashion of writing campaign letters. He used to write one whenever he had time. He is getting his fill of letters this fall, for Chairman Salen is setting him a hot pace.

Mr. Salen has challenged Senator Hanna to meet Mr. Clarke and the senator and Dick have been busy ever since finding reasons why such a debate cannot be held.

Having cornered the senator, Mr. Salen directed a letter to Chairman Dick, of which the following is a part: "SHOULD HERRICK BE ELECTED GOVERNOR OF THE STATE, AND SHOULD HE CONTINUE AS A DIRECTOR OF THE HOCKING VALLEY RAILROAD COMPANY, IT MIGHT BECOME NECESSARY FOR THE ATTORNEY GENERAL OF THE STATE TO BRING SUIT AGAINST THE GOVERNOR OF THE STATE FOR A VIOLATION OF THE ANTI-TRUST LAWS OF OHIO."

"IN VIEW OF ALL THESE FACTS I HEREBY RESPECTFULLY REQUEST THAT MR. HERRICK PUBLICLY STATE WHETHER OR NOT IT IS HIS INTENTION TO CONTINUE AS A DIRECTOR IN THE HOCKING VALLEY RAILROAD COMPANY. At the annual meeting of the company at Columbus on Tuesday, October 6, Mr. Herrick's services as a director can be terminated, in case he agrees that in view of the embarrassments that might result, he should leave the directorship.

"Mr. Herrick will undoubtedly attend the annual meeting of the company. Mayor Johnson will also be in the neighborhood of Columbus at that time. WHY WOULDN'T OCTOBER 6 BE AN OPPORTUNE DATE FOR A PUBLIC MEETING BETWEEN THE TWO CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR TO DISCUSS TWO-CENT FARE AND THE OPERATION OF THE SO-CALLED "SOFT COAL TRUST" THROUGH THE RAILROAD PROPERTY IN WHICH MR. HERRICK IS STOCKHOLDER AND DIRECTOR?"

On Sept. 29 Mr. Herrick made his defense at Sandusky, and gave his excuses for escaping a debate with Mr. Johnson. He said:

"It is my misfortune that I am not the owner of Hocking Valley railroad shares, as it is a most excellent railroad."

Then Colonel Herrick went on to say that though he was a director in the railroad he was not personally interested, but merely represented some other person. He said he had withdrawn from the directory several months ago. Dick quotes Herrick and holds that the defense is so complete that there need be no debate.

This "most excellent railroad" runs through the Hocking valley coal field, and supplies Columbus and all the territory west and northwest of that point with soft coal. The railroad, which is owned by J. P. Morgan and other friends of Mr. Herrick, owns the Sunday Creek Coal company, and through it controls absolutely the output of the Hocking coal fields—it fixes the wages and hours of the miners and the price of coal.

During the coal famine of a year ago Attorney General Sheets brought an action against the Sunday Creek Coal company, for violation of the Valentine anti-trust law, but within a few months the suit was withdrawn.

Prior to the consolidation of the coal companies in the Hocking valley the inhabitants of the mining towns and the surrounding country had no trouble in securing all the coal needed at a moderate price, but since the formation of the trust, they cannot secure lump or screened coal at all, and the trust has been forcing them to take the refuse and pay as much for it as they formerly paid for screened coal.

Since the formation of the trust independent operators have attempted to open new mines on the Hocking Valley railroad, but the railroad has refused to put in the switch to the mine or even connect the switch which the operator has himself built down to the main tracks, thus stifling completely any further development of that field by independent operators.

Where the independent operator had a switch and connection with the railroad the railroad has furnished but few cars, and these they hauled to the next town and run them on a switch there: in one instance keeping the loaded cars for 10 days upon a side track, within 10 miles of the mine.

The Sunday Creek Coal company and the Pittsburg Coal company, the trust in the eastern part of the state, of which Dan R. Hanna, son of Senator Hanna and the business representative of M. A. Hanna & Company, is a director and leading spirit, have conspired together to divide the state of Ohio in two parts, making each party supreme in their respective districts. This unlawful contract in restraint of trade has advanced the price of coal to consumers nearly 100 percent in the past year, and as long as a Republican attorney general is in office in Columbus, owing his nomination and election to Senator Hanna, Myron T. Herrick, as a director of this "most excellent railroad," knew and approved of the above action.

If he "represented a friend" as a director of this "most excellent," law-breaking, coal trust railroad he would probably "represent" the same friend as governor of Ohio.

Only a Very Few Published.
It is not possible for the proprietors to publish more than a very few of the numerous letters received in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and telling of its remarkable cures. They come from people from every walk in life and from every state in the union. The following from Mr. T. W. Greathouse, of Prattsburg, Ga., speaks for itself: "I would have been dead now but for the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It cured me of chronic diarrhoea after seven years of suffering. I can never say too much in praise of that remedy." For sale by all druggists.

ANTI-BOODLE.
Chairman Dick Doesn't Want That Kind of Campaign.

The Democratic executive committee, through Chairman Salen, submitted to Chairman Dick of the Republican committee, a proposition to confine the expenditure of money in the state and legislative campaigns to the proper objects of meetings, literature, etc., and as an evidence of good faith to publish on the Saturday before election a sworn statement of all expenditures in detail, accompanied by similar statements of the candidates for governor and senator.

Dick promptly declined. The Democratic committee and candidates nevertheless intend to carry out their part of the proposition.

Saves Two From Death.
"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Amonk, N. Y., "but, when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and today she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c and $1 bottles guaranteed by Frank D. Hall.

It must make Mark Hanna boil over to think that he can't get out an injunction to stop Tom Johnson from telling the truth about him. Thank heaven, there is one tribunal that his money cannot buy or bribe.

"Anarchistic, Populistic, Socialistic." Somehow those words make one think of the "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion" that was the millstone which dragged the Republican party to the depths of defeat in 1884.

LIGHTNING

STRUCK CHURCH STREET HOUSE
WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

Electric Light Wires Saved House
From Burning and Prevented
Any Serious Injury.

During the electrical storm Wednesday evening lightning struck one of the rear chimneys on the house in which Mrs. Catherine Rex and family reside on West Church street. The chimney was demolished, some of the bricks being thrown a distance of sixty-five feet. Occupants of the house were severely shocked, but no one was injured.

The wires of the Citizens' Electric Light and Power company are bracketed to the house about eight feet from the chimney which was struck by the lightning, and it is undoubtedly due to this fact that the house was not set on fire or some of the inmates killed. When the lightning struck the house the electric fluid ran down between the weather boarding and plaster of the house to the point where the wires were bracketed to the house. Here it forced a hole through the weather boarding and jumping upon the wires, was grounded. It is not generally known, but it is a fact, nevertheless, that the wires of the Citizens' Electric Light and Power company are provided with safety brackets every four or five blocks, and are a great protection against lightning.

Several roomers at Mrs. Simonds at 105 West Church were also slightly shocked.

Wednesday afternoon lightning struck the residence of W. B. Carter, 137 Beech street, tearing the chimney off the front part of the house, the roof from the rear and breaking every window on one side. No one was hurt. The house is owned by Mr. F. L. Woodbridge, who places his loss at $250, with ample insurance.

WIND

Blew Mr. Dupler's Hat Off and Away
Went His Bank Book With Paper Money.

An incident of the high wind here Wednesday night that might have proved a very expensive one, will make Mr. Thomas Dupler, the well known meat merchant, more careful in the future. He was on his way to the bank to make his usual deposit, and had his bank book, with paper and money in it, under his arm, when a sudden gust of wind blew off his hat. He involuntarily threw up his arm to catch the hat, when away went the bank book and several hundred dollars in paper money was blown all over the street. After a busy chase he and Carl Allen, who happened along, recovered all the money except one five dollar bill that was subsequently found where it had blown on the grating leading to Dan L. Jones' hardware store.

CIGARS

Intended for the City Firemen Were Enjoyed by Others—Chief Bausch
Got One

Chief of the fire department, Louis Bausch was the victim of a good joke perpetrated by Police Chief James Sheridan, aided and abetted by every other department of the city government except the fire department.

Mr. Thomas H. Sites, appreciating the good work of Chief Bausch and his men at the recent fire at his home, wished to remember them and seeing Chief Sheridan, who was formerly a member of the fire department, he called him and presented him with a box of fine cigars, thinking that Sheridan was chief of the fire department.

The police chief took the cigars to his office in the city building, and Mayor or Crilly, Auditor Maurath, members of the Board of Public Safety and Service, and others enjoyed a good smoke. Chief Bausch was invited up to have a cigar and then the joke leaked out.

SUMMIT STATION.
Mr. William Williams and family, of Columbus, have been the guests of Mr. Thomas Himmell and family, just west of town, for some time. Mr. Williams informs your correspondent that he will move from Columbus to Washington, Pa., where he has accepted a position as passenger conductor, and expects soon to be promoted to a through run "B-B." as he is familiarly called, has been in the employ of the P. C. & St. L. R. for the past twenty-three years.

Mr. and Mrs. David Rhodenbarger, of Logansport, Ind., are visiting relatives here.

James Benner, of Chicago, is spending a few days with his parents here. James still uses a cane, as he has not yet fully recovered from his injuries received by being struck by a yard engine some time ago. One of his feet is still badly swollen.

During a recent electric storm, David King, living on the Refugee road, in Elma township, was leaning over a cyclone fence watching a sow and pig, when an electric bolt came along on the wire and struck among the pigs, throwing them in all directions. Mr. King went to the house and told his wife what he had seen and then went back to where the accident had happened, when he was surprised to see the pigs sucking as though nothing unusual had happened. The writer can vouch for Mr. King's veracity.

VILLAGERS

ARE WAGING WAR ON THE PENNSY RAILROAD.

Engineer Is Arrested for Violating the Speed Ordinance in the Town of Frazesburg.

Zanesville, O., Oct. 8.—At Frazesburg, the citizens are waging war on the Pennsylvania railroad company.

The trouble is the enforcement of an ordinance recently passed by the village council, providing that trains passing through the village shall do so at a rate of speed not exceeding 8 miles an hour.

The ordinance has not received the proper recognition by the railroad company, however, as their trains pass through as before at a rate of nearly 40 miles an hour.

Thomas Kane, an engineer, was recently arrested and fined $10 and costs. Other warrants have been issued, and as soon as possible other offenders will be brought to trial.

New Power Company.
Zanesville, O., Aug. 8.—The stockholders of the Southeastern Ohio railway, Light and Power company held a meeting yesterday and elected the following officers:

President, W. M. Hissey; vice president, Frank Ransbottom; secretary, treasurer and counsel, E. R. Meyer.

The proposed route is to Crooksville and Roseville. Surveyors will be at work in a week's time and the task of securing right of way will immediately follow.

Reading, Pa., Oct. 8.—What Philadelphia and Reading railway trainmen called the "lady's glove" order has been issued. It requires each trainman shall go on duty provided with a bunch of waste with which he shall wipe the iron hand rails just before the train stops at stations. The Reading is said to be the only railroad to adopt this rule.

DEPUTY SHERIFF WANTS NO HERO BUSINESS IN HIS

Hamilton, O., Oct. 7.—Deputy Sheriff Luke Brannon of Butler county, whose bravery prevented the lynching of Joe Spivey by an Oxford mob, was recently ly nominated for sheriff after serving efficiently as deputy. He held the noose about Spivey's neck and removed it, fighting the mob single-handed.

"Never mind making me out a hero. I acted as I did in the name of the law. That's all. Just plain facts for me," Brannon said. "I want no notoriety from this affair. I did my duty. Perhaps I made friends and perhaps I made enemies. I know I did what was right. That man Spivey's life was just as good as mine when the mob was after him. Give every man a fair trial before you inflict a penalty. If officers of the law throughout the country would share at heart this belief with me there would not be so many lynchings."

Brannon is a modest, hard-working and popular man.

OLD JOHN, OF HARVARD,
A MASCOT FOR 50 YEARS

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 7.—Old John Lovett has just entered on his 50th year as Harvard's mascot. "John the Orangeman" as he is called, has been the official fruit purveyor to the students of the university since 1853, when, with a small basket he began to peddle his wares on the college grounds. Now, at the age of 90 years, he is one of the fixtures of the university.

In April, 1832, a movement was started which resulted in the presenting to Old John, as a gift of the university, a donkey and two wheeled cart. Members of the faculty as well as students, contributed to the gift, which the old man has been using ever since, instead of the basket he formerly carried. The outfit is known as John's auto.

As mascot of the university, John opens the baseball season by throwing the first ball. He has not missed a football game since he has been at the university. When the Yale-Harvard game happens to be played at Yale, John is taken along.

The old man's greatest boast is that President Roosevelt of the class of '82, was one of his best customers. The President always has a word with Old John when he comes to the University and this "feller" the old man immensely likes.

Today is the first registration day. See places of registration in another column.

BURR D. JACKSON.

A REMARKABLE SPEAKER.

Hon. Newton D. Baker, who is announced to speak at Pataskala on the afternoon of Saturday, October 17, and in Granville on the evening of the same day, ranks high as a campaign speaker and he will greatly interest those who come out to hear him. He was a post-graduate of Johns Hopkins university and was private secretary to the late William L. Wilson as postmaster general under Cleveland. Since his residence in the city of Cleveland he has ranked among the foremost of the able lawyers of that city. He was elected city solicitor of Cleveland at the last spring election, having previously been director of law under Mayor Johnson's city administration. In addition to being a gifted orator, Mr. Baker is recognized as an expert on the questions of taxation and displays remarkable ability in presenting the issues of this campaign. He should be heard by large crowds both at Pataskala and Granville on the afternoon and evening of the 17th inst.

Ohio Democrats in this campaign are perfectly willing to discuss national issues, although they hold local issues to be paramount in a state contest. The Republicans, however, refuse to discuss national issues with Democratic orators and will not discuss state issues at all. It is evident that the weight of the argument must be on the Democratic side.

THE IMPORTANCE OF STATE AFFAIRS.

The party managers who are back of the candidacy of Colonel Myron T. Herrick, it is plain enough, are going to try to avoid all questions and issues involving state and local government in the pending campaign.

Nor does it require anything resembling special wisdom to understand why they propose to do so. They dare not attempt to defend the unjust system of levying and collecting taxes, under which the farmer and the small property owner is compelled to pay three or four times his due that the wealthy individual or corporation may escape with one-third or less of the sum actually and justly due.

They dare not defend the recent Republican Legislatures, which, in one form and another, have turned, or partially turned, franchises and public utilities over to an organized head of political and commercial freebooters.

They dare not defend the recent Cox-Hanna political-commercial combines with unlimited powers of plundering.

It is plain enough why the Republican leaders wish to avoid the discussion of the subjects. Mr. Johnson, however, proposes to hold them to it, and every honest voter in the state should back him in his determination.

Any Democrat in Ohio who remains away from the polls this year will be that act substantially endorse imperialism, monopoly and Hannaism and will condemn home rule, tax reform and decent politics. That is why the full Democratic vote will be required for the full Democratic ticket next November.

Under the Cox code the governor supercedes the people of each municipality in the state in matters pertaining to exclusively local government, and of no concern to the state. At the November election all the people will have a chance to resent this iniquity for the first time.

Mr. Hanna wants to elect a Republican legislature pledged to him in advance, in order to save the expense and humiliation of his prior election six years ago. The Boss believes in economy, and experience has taught him when is the best time to practice it.

Cox, Guilbert and all the anti-home rule crowd will be put out of business with the defeat of Hanna, Herrick and Harding. The object of the voter should be not only to provide for the future, but to blot out the recent past in Ohio politics.

Two administrations of Governor Nash in Columbus have brought out numerous public scandals, from which two administrations of Mayor Johnson in Cleveland have been conspicuously free. The inference does not need elaboration.

We observe that those timid ones who now profess to be afraid of "too much Johnson" are all Republicans. And they have good reason to be afraid.

There are no Rathbones nor mysterious individuals sailing under false names assisting John H. Clarke's senatorial campaign.

Senator Hanna understands that he would be out of joint in a joint debate.

3-CENT FARE IN CLEVELAND.

Monopolist Hanna Repudiated by the People and System Is Being Constructed.

Cleveland, Sept. 23.—Work was begun on the new 3-cent fare street railroad system in this city. When Mr. Johnson was elected mayor he promised to try and secure 3-cent fare. To prevent this Senator Hanna, the principal owner of the trolley system of Cleveland, overturned all the municipal governments of the state; he had the city council of Cleveland enjoined from passing the franchise, and used all the power of his high position as United States senator to prevent competition with his 5-cent fare monopoly. The people have sustained Mayor Johnson at every election, and unless Hanna manages to secure more injunctions the system will soon be completed.

A CHAPTER OF HANNA MORALITY.

The Cleveland Recorder under the above head prints the following editorial in its columns:

"Hanna was beaten for the senatorship two days before the two houses of the legislature met in joint session January 12, 1898. For ten days Hanna and Dick had brought delegation after delegation to Columbus and had used the most brutal methods known in politics to compel the support of members opposing him. Money was spent like water and Hanna's bar bill at the Neil house alone amounted to over $7,500. It was common talk in the lobbies of the hotels as to how much this member and that one had gotten for his promise to vote for Hanna. Hanna was three votes short of an election when an attempt was made to bribe John C. Otis, a member from Hamilton county; $750 was actually paid over to Otis, $1,750 promised next day and the balance of $6,500.00 was to be paid upon Hanna's election.

When Mr. Otis made the charge in the house, the senate appointed a committee to investigate it. In their report the committee says:

"The evidence taken by our committee, in its judgment, proves four main facts:

"1. That on or about January 9, 1898, an attempt was made to bribe John C. Otis, a member of the house of representatives of the general assembly of the state of Ohio, to vote for Marcus A. Hanna for United States senator.

"2. That Henry H. Boyce was the principal offender in the commission of that crime.

"3. That Major E. G. Rathbone and Major Charles F. Dick were the agents of Marcus A. Hanna, and procured, aided and abetted Henry H. Boyce in committing that crime.

"4. That H. H. Hollenbeck aided said Henry H. Boyce in committing that crime.

"Your committee was anxious from the beginning of this investigation that Hanna, Dick, Rathbone, Boyce and Hollenbeck should be heard; that they should offer evidence and that they should make a complete vindication of themselves. To this end subpoenas were issued for Hollenbeck and Boyce. Both of them fled from the country, going beyond the jurisdiction

FIRED BLANK CARTRIDGES.

Hanna, Herrick and Harding Open Republican Campaign.

They Dodge the Vital Issues That the Democrats Are Urging Against Them—All Opposed to Just Taxation, Two-Cent Railway Fares and Home Rule.

Well, now we know what to expect, Hanna, Herrick and Harding have met the issues.

The meeting at Berlin Heights on Thursday will live in history as a great "issue meeting."

There were cannon fired, bands played, and 2,000 people heard the great men speak.

No one can any longer say that they did not meet the points raised, or some of them at least.

The independent and trustworthy Cleveland Press had one of its most careful and experienced men, Mr. Maurice Weidenthal, along with the great men, and he tells the readers of that paper what the Republican candidates had to say.

Herrick takes issue against 2-cent fares on the railroads. He is opposed to any reduction and he says that the Democratic position is a "scheme of paternalism." He declared that the of the senate and your committee.

"Your committee sent subpoenas and respectful invitations to Hanna, Dick and Rathbone to appear before the committee.

"Your committee waited for several weeks and kept the investigation open to give these men the utmost opportunity to furnish evidence, which they not only neglected and refused to do, but purposely absented themselves from this state.

"Your committee believes from the evidence taken that the authorized agents of Marcus A. Hanna attempted to bribe John C. Otis to vote for him for United States senator.

"Your committee respectfully submits that such a man as Marcus A. Hanna, if guilty as hereby indicted, is not fit to represent the great state of Ohio in the United States senate, and that he should be expelled from that body. To permit him to hold his seat there would go far towards legalizing corruption and bribery."

Hanna was finally elected by one vote, but this election was only possible by securing the vote of Rufus W. Lane, J. E. Griffith and Charles F. Droste. Lane was a silver Republican elected on the fusion ticket in Hamilton county, and pledged to oppose Hanna, and was shortly after the adjournment of the legislature appointed United States consul at Smyrna, Asia Minor, as his reward. John E. Griffith was a Foraker Republican, from Union county, who had been bitterly opposed to Hanna and whose wife had been insulted, kidnapped and taken to the Neil house and kept there all night without communication with her husband. He received as his reward the appointment of clerk of the U. S. district court in Arizona. Charles F. Droste was also a member from Hamilton county, elected on the fusion ticket with Lane and pledged to oppose Hanna, and before the meeting of the legislature was a man of very ordinary circumstances, but immediately afterwards, from some source or other, became possessed of a comfortable fortune.

Major Charles Dick received as his reward the nomination and election to congress from the Nineteenth congressional district and is now chairman of the Republican state executive committee.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

Why The Animal Schools Failed

I wonder how many little boys and girls know why there are no schools in animal land?

Well, wherever there are schools there are school commissioners or a school board, which has charge of the schools and makes the laws to govern them.

When the animals decided to establish schools they selected a school board, consisting of Mr. Elephant, Mr. Kangaroo and Mr. Monkey, and these fellows held a meeting to agree upon their plans.

"What shall the animal children be taught in the animal school? That is the question," declared Mr. Monkey.

So we know where the Republican candidate for governor stands on the 2-cent fare proposition. Being a director in one or two Gould railroads, he naturally must see to it that his politics and his business do not clash.

Herrick declares that he and his party are in favor of "equal taxation and home rule." He does not explain how the fact of railroads paying 6 per cent on their proper valuation, while farms pay on 60 per cent is equal, but it is to be presumed that he would hold that anything more than 6 per cent for the railroads would be another indication of "paternalism."

As for home rule, Colonel Herrick would probably point to the municipal code, which was dictated by those two eminent Republicans, George B. Cox and Mark A. Hanna. To say that the Republicans are in favor of home rule, while such a law is so recently on the statute books as a strictly party measure, makes it fair to point to that code as the Republican sort of home rule. It would thus appear that there are two kinds of "home rule," home rule which rules at home and that which rules from Columbus. Herrick's is the Columbus sort.

Senator Harding, who is a candidate for lieutenant governor, was in the senate and voted for the "Cincinnati steal," by which a corporation was given a franchise in the streets for 44 years to run streetcars at 5-cent fare. He defended his vote and commended the steal. This is very frank on the senator's part, and it is likewise bold and daring. He makes the issue definite and certain of this subject.

In regard to Hanna's speech we can not do better than quote Mr. Weidenthal's words:

"Hanna spoke of the day as an ideal McKinley day, said that this was a McKinley year, and called the voters to a realization of the duty before them. He said the Socialists of the country have a great leader—Mayor Johnson—and that he was selfish and ambitious, rather than a true worker for the people's interests."

So here we have it in a nutshell. Herrick takes the railroad side in the matter of taxation and 2 cents a mile fare.

Harding defends the "Cincinnati steal," of which he was a part.

Hanna calls Tom L. Johnson "selfish and ambitious," and declares that he is a Socialist leader.

With these issues fairly and squarely before the people, if the Democrats can not win the election, it would indeed appear that the "hearts of the people are hardened and their understandings are darkened."

Do Good—It Pays.

A Chicago man has observed that "Good deeds are better than real estate deeds—some of the latter are worthless. Act kindly and gently, show sympathy and lend a helping hand. You cannot possibly lose by it." Most men appreciate a kind word and encouragement more than substantial help. There are persons in this community who might truthfully say: "My good friend, cheer up. A few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will rid you of your cold, and there is no danger whatever from pneumonia when you use that medicine. It always cures. I know it for it has helped me out many a time." Sold by all druggists.

When the animals decided to establish schools they selected a school board, consisting of Mr. Elephant, Mr. Kangaroo and Mr. Monkey, and these fellows held a meeting to agree upon their plans.

"What shall the animal children be taught in the animal school? That is the question," declared Mr. Monkey.

THE SCHOOL BOARD HELD A MEETING.

"Yes, that is the question," exclaimed Mr. Kangaroo and Mr. Elephant together.

"They should be taught to climb trees," said the monkey positively.

"All my relatives will serve as teachers."

"No, indeed!" shouted the other two in chorus. "That would never do."

"They should be taught to jump," cried the kangaroo with emphasis. "All my relatives will be glad to teach them."

"No, indeed!" yelled the other two in unison. "That would never do."

"They should be taught to look wise," said the elephant, "and all my relatives will act as teachers."

"No, indeed!" howled the other two together. "That will never do."

"Well, what will do?" they asked as they looked at each other in perplexity.

"Teach them to climb," said Mr. Monkey.

"Teach them to jump," said Mr. Kangaroo.

"Teach them to look wise," said Mr. Elephant.

And so it was that none of them would yield, and when they saw there was no chance to agree they all became angry and decided not to have any animal schools at all.

Between you and me, I expect the animals are just as smart as they would be with schools run by the elephant, monkey and kangaroo. What do you think?—Detroit Journal.

WANTING VACATION DAYS

Vacation days are on the wane, and fast they're slipping by. For when there's play instead of work time flies again to fly. Though thousands at the sea and lakes and mountains yet remain, They note with sorrow that their time for fun is on the wane.

The summer girls are seeing that they are being counted on the conquests they have made. They realize that they are near the ending of their reign. For fond admirers vanish when vacation's on the wane.

There's grief at summer hostilities where cash like water poured. While owners reckon up their gains and add them to their hoard; About the shrinkage in their tips the waiters oft complain. For they're all doing when vacation's on the wane.

Some faces that we long had missed again confront our gaze. And they are being added to as swiftly as the days.

For they're struggling back again, a bunch on every train. Which always is a certain sign vacation's on the wane.

The youngsters, too, now realize the time is drawing near. When back to school they'll have to go and take up tasks severe. They see the hours for play rush by, and there is mental pain Because the long vacation days are swiftly on the wane.

Both old and young are sad because the time is near at hand. When they again must buckle down and work to beat the band. They'd like to take a longer loaf, but wishes are in vain. When they can see the finish with vacation on the wane.

GLORIOUS IS THE "PROMISED LAND" OF EAST AFRICA

COUNTRY OFFERED THE ZIONISTS FOR A JEWISH COLONY BY ENGLAND WAS MADE FOR THE WHITE MAN—HAS A RAILROAD AND IS VERY FERTILE.

A VIADUCT IN UGANDA, BUILT BY AMERICAN CONTRACTORS

MAJAS TRIBE WARRIOR

London, Oct. 9.—When England made the announcement to the Zionists that she would place a large tract of her East Africa possessions at its disposal for a Jewish colony, the reading world had hazy ideas about a sandy plain, one palm tree, a rampant lion and a group of naked negroes.

As a matter of fact this little known country is one of the paradise spots of the world. You have read of Uganda, the Uganda of Henry M. Stanley's exploring adventures, but you would be surprised to know that it now has a first class railway as long as the distance from Cleveland to New York; that it is a country "overflowing with milk and honey," a country made for the white man.

English foresight, the Anglo-Saxon instinct which prepares new territory for a home for its children, is seen here. It cost six million pounds, 30 million hard dollars, to pierce the wilderness from the Indian ocean to Lake Victoria Nyanza with a railroad. The sea coast regions are hot and miasmic but from Makinder, 207 miles inland, there is a stretch of 400 miles of country that is beautiful in the extreme. There is no excessive heat, the land is well watered and well wooded, and there are miles and miles of grassy plains over which countless herds of game roam. The only comparison to it is the middle west of the United States.

The fertility of the soil is remarkable. The few settlers who had the nerve to go to that quarter of the globe grow the finest potatoes in the world, and experts say that it is the finest grain and cotton-growing land known. Men of experience have gone there from Australia and South Africa and their reports of the country are not only optimistic, but enthusiastic. In fact England here has another empire that only requires the development that comes from the white man's brains and hands.

The British commissioner is Sir Charles Eliot. He is popular and is trying hard to develop the resources of Uganda.

The harbor of Killindini and Port Reitz, which is in direct touch with the Uganda railway, could accommodate the entire British navy, and is land-locked, is undoubtedly one of the finest harbors in the world.

There is no need to dwell upon the mineral resources of the country. There may be—and probably is—gold and other minerals in abundance; but for colonizing and the successful development of British East Africa these are not an absolute necessity.

FINE NEW APPLE

Which Pomologists Have Not as Yet Been Able to Identify Seen at County Fair.

About five years ago I found exhibited at our county fair a very attractive apple and made some inquiry about it of the owner and learned that some one had told him it might be a "Wonder." The next year on again seeing the apple at the fair, I was so impressed with its value that I determined to propagate some trees, and, if possible, have it identified. I sent specimens to Professor Lazenby, at the Ohio State University, but he was unable to name it. This year I exhibited it at the state fair, at the Ohio Horticultural meeting and sent specimens to the pomological department at Washington, but they were unable to identify the apple. I am quite certain that it is a seedling, and at Mr. Brackett's suggestion am sending trees to the Ohio and New York experiment station for trial. If it does as well in other localities as this one tree, it will be very valuable.

Educational Classes About to Open—A Pittsburg Lawyer Speaks Here Sunday at Y. M. C. A.

No such opportunity for carrying on systematic study during the winter months was ever offered to the young men of Newark as is offered this year by the Y. M. C. A. in its evening educational classes.

With able instructors in every subject, giving two lessons a week from now till next April, and all for a nominal tuition fee, the classes should be filled to their limit.

The registration so far shows that many young men are going to take advantage of this opportunity of picking up a more thorough knowledge of one of these subjects.

The classes begin work next week. On Monday evening at 7:30 the classes in bookkeeping, mechanical drawing and German meet for their first lesson. On Tuesday evening the classes in English and business correspondence, commercial arithmetic and vocal music.

Now is the time to register. If you haven't entirely made up your mind on the course, or if you are considering the study of any of the subjects, call at the office any evening and talk it over.

NEXT SUNDAY'S PROGRAM.

The sacred concert in Taylor hall next Sunday afternoon will be given by the following musicians from the Deacon Conservatory of Music:

Mr. Arthur Judson, violinist.

Miss Sara Edna Stranathan, soprano.

Miss Bess Benedict, pianist.

The address that afternoon will be of special interest. Mr. W. K. Jennings, a prominent attorney of Pittsburg, will speak on the subject, "The Voices of a Young Man Hears."

The meetings this year promise to be even more attractive than last year. Plan to attend.

ELECTRICAL MASSAGE MACHINE.

A. P. Teuscher, the well-known barber, is always getting the very latest and most approved appliances for the convenience, comfort and care of the patrons of his well-known tonsorial saloon on North Third street, in the Lansing block.

For a long time the use of facial massage has been considered indispensable in a well appointed shop, and in many places expert masseurs are employed.

Recently Mr. Teuscher purchased and now has installed in his place of business an electrical massage machine which does the work much more rapidly and satisfactorily than can be accomplished by the most expert operator who uses his fingers alone.

The machine is fitted with a rubber bulb, which, with a connection with a small motor, vibrates at a speed of 7,000 to the minute. This is carried over the face by the operator and the very best results are thus obtained. All who have had the face massage with the Victor machine are decided in their expression that for this kind of treatment the machine is the best that can be obtained.

ROMANTIC STORY OF A SOCIETY ACTRESS WHO HAS MADE GOOD.

Clara Bloodgood is unique. She is a society actress with the accent on the "actress" and not on the "society." In spite of the fact that her social escapades and her divorces put her on the stage, she has outlived them and remains in spite of them. And there is not a critic who will deny that in the delineation of women of the "smart set" Mrs. Bloodgood has few equals.

She was born in the very center of New York's smart set, the daughter of Edward Stephens, well known in New York's business world. This was in 1870. She was educated at St. John's school, Brighton, England, and made her first public appearance when, at the age of 16, she became the wife of William Moller Havemeyer, one of the famous sugar family. But it didn't last long. The following year there was a divorce.

Two years later came a second marriage and she became Mrs. Bloodgood, the wife of "Jack" Bloodgood, a typical New York clubman and sport. No one was better known than "Jack" Bloodgood and as "Mrs. Jack" his wife was prominent. She and her husband were intimates of the "Jack" Wilmerdings and the two "Mrs. Jacks" became prominent together. The four were together on the famous occasion when Wilmerding threw a salad bowl at his wife's head in a New York restaurant and it under the auspices of Licking Company, U. R. K. of P.

"Our New Minister" will be seen at the Auditorium one week from tonight, Thursday, October 15.

Next Monday, October 12, F. C. Whitney will present Mrs. Le Moine in a magnificent scenic production of "Lady Berninthia's Secret," a new seventeenth century comedy by the author of Dolly Varden.

By mistake "Side-Tracked" was announced for next Monday. This comes Saturday night, October 10, and "Lady Berninthia's Secret," a big scenic production, comes Monday evening.

ROMANTIC STORY OF A SOCIETY ACTRESS WHO HAS MADE GOOD.

was Mrs. Bloodgood who was instrumental in having Mrs. Wilmerding released from an insane hospital where her husband had placed her.

But the Bloodgoods did not get along together very well and finally came a separation. Bloodgood went his way until financial reverses overcame him and he was taken ill. Then "Mrs. Jack" returned to him.

"I never can forgive him," she said, "but we were together during the good times and it is my duty to stand by him now."

For two years he lived a hopeless invalid and she cared for him. It was then, in 1893, that she went on the stage that she might support herself and the invalid. She made her first appearance with Annie Russell in "Catherine," but it was with Amelia Bingham as in "The Climbers" and with Elsie De Wolf in "The Way of the World" that she proved to New York that she could act. In the meantime "Jack" Bloodgood died and she was free. Last year she made a tremendous hit in New York as the star in "The Girl With the Green Eyes," which Clyde Fitch wrote for her, and this year, she is on the road in the same piece.

She is now the wife of Edward Laimbeer, a prominent New York clubman and broker.

AMERICANIZING THE GREAT RUSSIAN WOLF HOUND

FIGHTING DOG WHOSE HEREDITARY ENEMY IS THE WOLF WILL CLEAN OUT THE PESTS OF WESTERN PLAINS.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 7.—Lovers of fine dogs will have an opportunity this winter to see for the first time, in the bench shows, some genuine imported Borzoi or Russian wolf hounds. Heretofore the animals shown in this class in this country have been reared in the United States and do not equal in size or beauty the native of Russia.

Three years ago J. B. Thomas, Jr., R. H. Thomas, A. D. Dodge, H. H. Mossman, R. L. McKnight and C. J. Hamlin, students attending Yale university, conceived and carried out the idea of establishing a Borzoi kennel. They chose a site in Simsbury, Conn., and purchased some fine specimens, which have been constantly added to until today the Valley kennel boasts of 39 fine canines.

The Borzoi first attracted attention outside of Russia by travelers' stories of the animal's wonderful size, speed, strength, endurance and fighting qualities. Yarns were spun by globe trotters about seeing a bound pull down a full grown fighting, Russian timber wolf and dispatching the animal at most as a terror would a rat.

The czar boasts of a pack of 30 and the Grand Duke Nicholas leads his imperial relation by 20. In the kennel of the latter are the grandest Borzois in the world. He has won six out of seven medals given in the last 50 years for fine breeding.

When the experiment with the Valley kennel proved a success and the Borzoi's had established their reputation as wolf-killers on the plains of the west, the owners decided to improve the stock as much as possible. With this in view J. B. Thomas, Jr., left for England, Germany and Russia.

In the first two named countries he failed to find a dog that came up to the requirements. Neither did he in the imperial kennels. Finally, after 24 hours in a railway coach, followed by a 60 mile ride over the worst roads imaginable, Thomas reached Pershina, where the hunting lodge of the grand duke is located. Here is the finest Borzoi kennel in the world, and from among 190 hounds Thomas secured Bristi, by champion Almas, the latter winner of the medal this year and considered the finest specimen living.

Bristi is a royal looking animal, standing 23 inches, covered with a great coat of pure white, wonderful head, fine legs and general conformation, coming up to the high standard set by the Russians for their champions.

M. Bolderoff, considered the most expert judge of Borzoi's in the world, pronounced Bristi the eighth best in the world, and as the other seven can not be had for love or money, it is evident that the Russian wolf hounds of this country have added to their family a wonderful animal.

In addition to Bristi Thomas purchased Atmoka and Sorba, the latter winner of the silver medal at Moscow this year for females. Both are much larger than the Borzois now in this country, and their importation will have great influence on the breed.

Since the introduction of the Russian hound in the west he has become popular with ranchmen and sheepmen, especially in New Mexico, which was overrun with wolves and coyotes. His antipathy for these animals is hereditary and they are becoming scarce wherever a Borzoi is making his headquarters.

To break the back of one these sneaking thieves of the plain is only a before breakfast frolic for a full grown hound, which will pull down the largest and fiercest wolf as sure as a rifle.

When raised from a pup the Borzoi becomes attached to members of the family and is as reliable and faithful as a collie. His great strength, courage and fighting proclivities make him feared by man and beast. As a watch dog he is without a rival. The baby left in his care is safer than in the hands of a flitting nurse. When full grown he is a noble looking animal and commands a high price.

IN NEWARK

Every Claim Is Backed by Local Testimony.

If the reader wants stronger proof than the following statement and experience of a resident of Newark, what can it be?

T. Henderson, No. 489 Baltimore street, says:

"I can only say that after giving Doan's Kidney Pills a trial, they showed themselves to be all that was claimed for them. I had a good deal of pain over my kidneys. If I contracted a cold, no matter how slight, it always affected them first, and as the result, my back grew worse, being so painful sometimes that it was all I could do to straighten up. The urine was of a bad odor and color—evidence that the kidneys were not altogether right. After I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills at Grayton's drug store, all this trouble was corrected. The kidneys passed away the impurities and my back was strong and free from pain."

CLEVELAND WON

IN THE GAME PLAYED WITH CIN. CINNATI YESTERDAY.

The Reds Make Numerous Errors, While the Blues Bat Harper Almost at Will.

It was a question all day Wednesday up until time to call the game, whether Jupiter Pluvius would allow the Cincinnati team of the National League, and the Cleveland American League team to get together in the fourth round of their battle for the state championship, which was to be fought on the diamond at Idlewild Park. All day the skies were lowering and from noon it was a race between the baseball teams and a storm.

In spite of the fact that anyone who went to the park was taking a 1 to 2 chance on a good soaking, the street cars began to load up shortly after one o'clock and it was soon seen that a good crowd was going to attend the game.

Manager Frank C. Bancroft of Cincinnati, and Secretary Barnard of the Cleveland team came to Newark in the morning and telephoned their teams to take the 12 o'clock Pan Handle train for Newark. The teams arrived at 1 o'clock in charge of Managers Armour of Cleveland, and Joe Kelley of Cincinnati. They went immediately to the hotel Warden and were not long in donning their uniforms, and by 2 o'clock they were in carriages ready to be driven to the park. When they arrived and went on the field, both teams were given hearty applause. Every eye was strained to catch a glimpse of the great Lajoie, and those who were supposed to know the famous player, were puffed with the questions "Where is he?" "Is that Lajoie?" until by the time it was ready to call the game there was probably no one in the stands or in the bleachers who did not know the big dark complexioned Frenchman when he came to the bat in the first inning, and he was given a hearty welcome, and generous applause.

The very first play of the game was one that he pulled off that brought the spectators to their feet. Lajoie had moved to Gochauer's place at short Hickman going to second. Donlin, the first man up, hit a terrific liner to the left of Lajoie and putting out his gloved hand he caught the ball with an ease and grace that put everyone in mind of a similar play by Hans Wagner several weeks ago.

Jack Harper went into the box for Cincinnati while Lajoie sent "Dusty" Rhoads to the firing line for his team. Harper started wild, but settled down for a few innings, when Cleveland got their batting eyes, and what they did to him was enough to send any pitcher to the tall timber. Singles, doubles and home runs came thick and fast, and in seven innings, the Blues gathered 15 hits and eleven runs off his delivery, while in eight innings the Reds got nine hits and five runs four of the latter coming in the fourth inning. After four runs had been scored in this inning Rhoads settled down and retired three men on strikes. This pitching feat was appreciated at its true worth by the crowd, who gave the pitcher a round of hearty applause.

The managers of both teams consulted with Umpire Hurst, and did not consider a rule necessary limiting balls knocked over the short left field fence, to two base hits, so Rhoads and Bemis, who each lifted one over were credited with home runs, both being made with a man on base. The fielding feature of the game was a great catch in left field by Harry Bay, who ran toward center and caught a line drive about shoe top high. It was undoubtedly the best catch ever made on the grounds, and the visiting newspaper men said it was the most sensational seen by them in either league during the season.

Corcoran also pulled off a piece of pyrotechnics by running over second, picking up a sizzling grounder, touching the bag and completing a fast double play with Donlin. Corcoran was also guilty of two inexcusable errors, that were very costly.

Neither side scored until the fourth when Cincinnati took a nice lead of four runs. Seymour hit to Bradley, who made a sensational pick up but could not get the ball to first ahead of Rhoads on the pitcher's home run. Two more in the sixth, tied the score, on doubles by Lajoie and Bemis and errors by Seymour and Daly. In the seventh the Reds again forced ahead, Harper getting to first on Abbott's miff of the third strike, hits by Donlin and Kelley scoring the pitcher.

Seven hits including two doubles and a home run, an error by Donlin helped Cleveland to seven runs in the seventh, and thereafter there was nothing to it, the score being 11 to 5.

After Cincinnati had failed to score in the first half of the eighth the game was called on account of darkness.

State and Federal Employees Must Do Political Work or Lose Their Jobs.

Federal and state officeholders who do not do all in their power for the success of the Republican ticket this fall will find themselves in trouble after election.

When Senator Hanna was in Columbus on his way to the Chillicothe opening he called a conference of local politicians at the Chittenden hotel. On being told that there were state and federal clerks who were luke-warm in support of the ticket the wrath of the senator was aroused and he at once demanded a list of all clerks whose disloyalty to the ticket was suspected.

"I will make it my business after election to see that no state employee who does not get out and hustle for the ticket at the coming election is re-appointed either to the position he now holds or any other," said Hanna.

Notes of the Game.

Catcher Abbott met with a painful accident in the seventh inning, when a foul tip from Donlin's bat struck him full in the face, breaking a wire in his mask, which cut quite a gash on the left cheek bone. The wound bled profusely, but Abbott pluckily resumed his work. Just a moment before a foul tip from Harper's bat struck Umpire Hurst on the leg, nearly incapacitating him. He resumed however, amid applause.

Ren Mulford, Jr., sporting editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer remarked to Manager Armour of the Cleveland, after Bay's sensational catch in left field: "Well, Bill, I guess I will have to acknowledge Bay to be the greatest fielder in the business."

Seymour's miff in center field was caused by Kerwin, the young fielder in right field, who also ran after the ball. The veteran was bothered as he nearly collided with Kerwin, and could not hold the ball.

Ropes were stretched in front of both bleachers confining the crowd. This arrangement will continue next Sunday and will be greatly appreciated. There will be no one allowed outside these ropes.

The grounds were in the best possible shape especially the infield, which had been filled and scraped so that it looked as smooth as a billiard table. Louis Swinehart, superintended the work and it was well done.

Manager Bancroft of the Cincinnati team, recalled the time when he met manager Driscoll nearly ten years ago when the latter was still cavoring about second base. Driscoll's team played the Reds several exhibition games and "Banny" was then holding down the same position as at present.

"Dutch" Gochauer, the Cleveland shortstop, did not play in the game Wednesday. He has been doing awful work almost throughout the season, and is also reported to be "hitting it up" at a pretty lively rate. He attended the game in citizen's clothes and his face did not look as if he had been drinking nothing but soda and lemon seltzers. Gochauer evidently realizes that Terry Turner will be in his position next year.

Rain checks were given as each person passed the gate, and a sigh of relief passed Bancroft and Armour when four and a half innings were completed, and the pastebards became void.

Chief of Police James Sheridan personally saw that the newspaper men and scorers were not bothered during the game. They had tables by the grandstand, and the crowd was kept clear of the space in front.

Editor Homer Stivers of the American Tribune was warmly greeted by his former colleagues in the newspaper business in Cincinnati, who were with the Reds.

There were many ladies in attendance at the game, and the gasps of delightful feminine approval that escaped them could not but have pleased the great Lajoie if he had heard them.

The State Journal's sporting editor who attended the game, has a peculiar idea of an error, when he charges Flick with one for dropping a ball that came through the trees. Bradley, another because Seymour beat out his throw after a wonderful stop, and a third to Thoney for fumbling Kelley's hit. The fact of it is, Kelley's hit was a clean three-bagger and only Thoney's fast fielding prevented him from making a home run.

The Journal also exempts Donlin from an error, and gives it to Seymour, when the latter threw into the diamond, and Mike let it get away from him. No outfielder is ever given an error when he throws the ball into the diamond, and it passes the infielders.

The score kept for the Advocate is absolutely correct and in only one detail differs from that printed in this morning's Enquirer. We give Harper a wild pitch, while the Enquirer gave Peitz a passed ball.

Boston Beats Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 8.—"Roaring Bill" Kennedy, after pitching good ball for five innings Wednesday went all to pieces in the sixth and got a hammering that Pittsburg and Boston fans, who gathered to see the fifth game of the championship series, will long remember.

Kennedy was given a push skyward by meagre errors by Clarke and Wagner and then the fireworks began.

Such consecutive swatting as the Boston accomplished has not been seen on these grounds this season. During the batting Young and Dougherty slammed out triples.

The attendance was 12,322. Score: Pittsburg 0 0 0 0 0 2-2
Boston 0 0 0 0 6 1-11

THE A. A. Griggs COMPANY

REUNION

OF THE OLD SEVENTY-SIXTH AT CONESVILLE.

Nearly 100 Members of the Gallant Regiment Present—Will Meet in Newark Next.

The reunions of the famous old regiment, the Seventy-sixth O. V. I., are always successful affairs from every standpoint and the one for 1903, held at Conesville, Wednesday, was no exception.

There were nearly 100 members of the regiment present and many were accompanied by their wives and families. The Newark veterans went to Conesville at 8:25 in the morning, arriving at about 10 o'clock. The reunion was held at the residence of David Davis, a coal operator of Conesville, and president of the Memorial association of the Seventy-sixth regiment.

The exercises of the day opened with appropriate music by the Shepherd orchestra of Coshocton, after which Rev. James Matthews, of Conesville, led in prayer, and a most cordial address of welcome was given by Rev. T. C. McCollow, rector of the Episcopal church of Bellefontaine, and son-in-law of Mr. Davis, to whom company in the Seventy-sixth Mr. Davis belonged.

The election of regimental officers being next in order, there was such a general appreciation of Mr. Davis' services as president during the past year that he was re-elected to that position for another year by a unanimous rising vote. J. P. Rodebach, of Highwater, was also unanimously re-elected vice president, and Captain John Hiser re-elected treasurer; Samuel Hupp, recording secretary, and Charles W. Hull, corresponding secretary.

J. W. Tilton, of Marysville, was appointed permanent secretary of the association, with authority to collect and preserve all facts and statistics pertaining to members of the regiment in various parts of the country. It was then decided to hold the next reunion of the regiment at Newark on Wednesday, October 8, 1904.

Adjournment was then had for dinner and after 200 or more guests had partaken of such a repast as only David Davis knows how to provide, the boys again assembled in the pavilion, where stirring and patriotic addresses were delivered by Captain J. M. Compton, of Coshocton, and by comrades G. W. Earl, of Massillon; William Montgomery, of Johnstown; Albert Norris, of Union Station; J. P. Rodebach, of Sylva; E. J. Chapin, of Milwaukee, Wis.; W. H. Rose, of Chicago; Finley Johnson, of Uhrichsville; H. H. Dibble, of Canal Winchester, and by Colonel Kibler, W. H. Darlington, M. R. Scott, of Newark, and Captain J. M. Scott, of Alexandria.

A resolution was adopted thanking Mr. and Mrs. Davis for their hospitality and extending the best wishes of the regiment to them and their ten children and twelve grandchildren.

Eph. Hancock, of Union Station, also favored the audience with a choice song.

David Davis enlisted in the Seventy-sixth regiment in the year 1861, being then only a boy of 17 years. He served four years with the highest honor and credit, being mustered out in the spring of 1865.

Soon after the close of the war he engaged in coal mining at Conesville, and so decided has been his success in that business that he owns about 2,000 acres of coal land besides 1,000 acres of other land and keeps about 200 miners in his employ, while his Coshocton coal is sold in all parts of the country.

As there was no better soldier than he, so in the opinion of his army comrades and all his neighbors and acquaintances there is no more modest, clever, enterprising and useful citizen to be found in the boundaries of the great state of Ohio.
